

The PresseBox is breaking new ground in its focus on technology. Our media distribution covers all aspects of information and industrial technology. You can address topics over the PresseBox to trade journals and much more, including daily updated media, news agencies, TV and radio outlets and magazines – in each case with the relevant editor - and, of course, with freelance journalists and editorial offices.

For your PR success, it is important to realize: Your report acquires sustainable recognition and significant credibility through a combination of journalistic media. The PresseBox provides you with modular coverage of the entire spectrum of media dealing with technology, so that you are in communication with the pertinent thematic environment.

The following list of media distributors provides a representative selection of the accredited media, and gives an impression of the multi-faceted media spectrum in the German speaking community.
